ANNOUNCEMENT

WORKSHOP ON THE ROLE OF JPICH FUNDED RESEARCH PROJECTS ON HERITAGE PRACTICE

“CULTURAL HERITAGE CONCEPTS AND THEORIES: EVALUATION OF THE 20TH CENTURY HISTORIC URBAN LANDSCAPES”

September 28-29, 2017, Vilnius, Lithuania

MAIN SCOPE

One of the important functions of JPI CH is to act as a node for research based heritage practice in Europe. The workshop aims at discussing how to improve this aspect by encouraging wider and more targeted communication between research projects financed by JPICH and different stakeholders in the field of heritage practice. The workshop is dedicated to support the implementation of the Strategic Research Agenda (SRA) of the Joint Programming Initiative on Cultural Heritage and Global Change (JPI CH). The event will cover two separate but interrelated topics of: “Integrating new knowledge into practice” and “Cultural heritage concepts and theories”.

STRUCTURE

13.00-15.00, September 28th, 2017 | Heritage practice and strategic priorities of JPI CH funded scientific researches

The first part of the workshop is foreseen as a think-tank type event that will discuss ways to improve the visibility and the impact of the research projects funded by JPI CH. The improvement of research design and knowledge exchange process through future JPI CH calls requirements will be the central focus of the discussion. An overview of ICCROM surveys will be presented in the discussion. A Statement summarising the findings will be prepared and published.

13.00-13.15 Welcome

13.15-13.45 Cristina Sabbioni (JPI CH) „JPI Cultural Heritage: what is a JPI, what the JPICH realized in the past 7 years and the future activities, calls and priorities“.

13.45-14.15 Theocharis Katrakazis (ICCROM) „Sharing the profits: building win-win relationships to enhance heritage research impact“.

14.15-15.00 Round table discussion.

9.00-11.30, September 29th, 2017 | JPI CH funded scientific researches and question of value of 20th century historic urban landscapes

This part of the workshop is intended as an information sharing seminar. The results of three projects funded by JPI CH will be presented (“Smart value”, “PICH” and “H@V”). The workshop will discuss how these results could have practical impacts. As a case study the historic urban landscape of Kaunas (European heritage label site and European capital of culture 2022 site) will be examined. The issues of value re/definition play an important role in the process of cultural heritage protection in Kaunas. Therefore a key consideration will be to examine if the results of the JPI CH research projects can be applied to Kaunas. The 2018 summer school/courses for heritage practitioners focussing on the case study of the historic urban landscape of Kaunas will be presented and discussed.

9.00-9.20 Vaidas Petrulis (KTU) „Practical problems of evaluation of Modern Movement legacy in Lithuania“.

9.20-9.40 John Pendlebury (Newcastle University, School of Architecture Planning and Landscape) „Rethinking the C20 landscape: the Byker Housing Estate and the Ouseburn Industrial Area, Newcastle upon Tyne“.

9.40-10.00 Kalliopi Fouseki (The Bartlett, UCL Faculty of the Built Environment) “H@V: From heritage network to heritage research and heritage practice”.

10.00-10.20 Coffee break

10.20-10.40 Bogusław Szmygin (Lublin University of Technology, faculty of Civil Engineering and Architecture). „Smart Value Project“.

10.40-11.30 Round table discussion.
